COUNCIL CLOSES DELIBERATIONS

Busy Session Ends With Address by Bishop Woodcock.

Sick and Afflicted Are Remembered By Representatives of Diocese Today.

ARE PLEASED WITH RECEPTION

The second day's session of the Diocesan Council of the Episcopal church of Kentucky opened this morning with the celebration of holy communion at 7:30 o'clock. At 9:30 o'clock the morning prayer was held, adjourning into the business session at 10 o'clock. Bishop Charles E. Woodcock, of Louisville, was in the chair and Mr. John J. Saunders, of Louisville, was secretary of the council.

The business session opened with a reading of the minutes of yesterday's session, which were adopted without protest. The regular business of hearing reports from committees was then taken up, the committee on canon taking the floor. The chairman of the committee on canon read his report with recommendations for changes which were discussed by the delegates. This report occupied a large part of the morning session. During the session four telegrams were sent by the council, one to the bishop of San Francisco, expressing sympathy, the others to delegates who were detained from attending the council.

A report on the condition of the church was read by Mr. J. K. Mason. The council then adjourned for lunch.

This afternoon the council opened with a business session which will wind up that part of the convention. At 4 o'clock the Woman's Auxiliary will meet, the closing service of the council taking place at 8 o'clock with an address by Bishop Woodcock.

Delegates to the council report a most excellent meeting and are particularly pleased with the arrangements made for their comfort and pleasure by the church and rector here. A large audience will greet Bishop Charles E. Woodcock tonight as his ability as a speaker has been demonstrated in many sermons delivered here at different times.

Well Known Men.

There are some prominent men from all over the state in the city attending the diocesan meeting of the Episcopal church, among them being Mr. John C. Lewis, of the Jno. C. Lewis company, of Louisville, the largest dry goods house in the state, and Mr. George A. Newman, Sr., one of the principal owners of the Syrup of Pigs company. Both were pleasant callers at the Sun office today. Mr. George A. Newman, Jr., son of Mr. Newman, is the editor of the Louisville Herald.

Lumber Cut in the United States

Washington, May 17.—A total of 227,733,000,000 feet of lumber was cut in the United States during 1905, according to figures announced today by the government forestry service. The statistics were compiled by the forestry service, in co-operation with the National Lumber Manufacturers' Association, and are based on reports from 11,649 firms. The stock on hand January 1 is given as $6,504,000,000 feet.

The total cut of logs was 2,910,000,000 and shingles 13,868,000,000. Of the total cut, almost 30 per cent was yellow pine, 13 per cent Douglas fir, 11 per cent northern pine, 9 per cent hemlock, 4 per cent spruce and none of the other species reached 4 per cent each.

OF GARFIELD ON STANDARD OIL AND RAILROADS.

Accompanied by Answer to Defense of Company to Charges of Rebating.

Washington, May 17.—The full report of Commissioner of Corporations Garfield regarding relations of Standard Oil company with the great railroads of the country, a synopsis of which was sent to congress by the president May 4, was made public today and delivered to congress. It was accompanied by a formal letter from the president.

The document consists of 500 printed pages, about 250,000 words. It presents in detail the evidences of rebating, and the secret rating by which the Standard has been able to crush out competition and pile up enormous profits.

The most interesting feature of the report is reproduced in the special letter from Garfield to the president, designed as an answer to the Standard's defense. It was issued shortly after the publication of the original summary. Garfield takes up the defense section by section. He attempts to ridicule Standard's denial of the violation of laws. It also contains answers to statements made on behalf of the railroads to his original allegations, published in summary.

MORNING TRAINS MET BY POLICE

After Commissioners Restore the Depot Beat.

Disorder and Many Thefts Followed Withdrawal of All Police Protection.

FIRE DEPARTMENT VACANCIES.

The police commissioners have awakened to the fact that the people need some protection in the vicinity of the Union depot and have given them police protection after a several weeks' lull of the patrolmen on this particular beat.

Patrolman Ed Alexander has been seen at the depot during the morning meeting the trains for two days, and an investigation revealed the fact that he had been ordered to the depot during the morning.

The first shot out of the box was a day light robbery, and a few days later a drunken farmer from Graves county took the platform with a big Colt's pistol.

Night before last a regular fusillade broke the stillness within a square of the depot and many other matters in violation of the law were reported.

The action of the commissioners in putting the police back is appreciated and the residents in Littleville are pleased to realize that officers are at hand in cases of emergency.

Three Vacancies.

Harvey Alen, truck driver at the No. 4 fire station, has resigned, and the police and fire commissioners will fill his place at a meeting Monday night. This makes three places in the fire department to fill. Mr. Sid Gilbert resigned a few weeks ago from the No. 3 station and Extra Fireman Frank Digel also resigned.

A report gained currency that Patrolman James Brennan, who is now taking his vacation in Wisconsin, has resigned his position and would remain in that state. An investigation failed to develop that he had. Commissioners J. K. Bonds and J. C. Gilbert have received no word to this effect and James Collins, chief of police, declared that he had not received notification of any such action. The report is thought to have been started as a joke.

DEMAND ASSEMBLY FOR CONSTITUTION

Workingmen's Deputies Assert Themselves In Douma.

Will Send Reply Protesting Against Whole Tenor of Speech From Throne.

CREATES A GREAT SENSATION.

St. Petersburg, May 17.—The real temper of the great masses of the Russian people who are able voice their sentiments through their chosen representatives in the duma is beginning to manifest itself. Today was witnessed the first real assertion of the views of the workingmen, and the statement of their position, by the workingmen's deputies created a sensation which surpasses anything that has yet startled the duma members.

A bold demand for the immediate establishment by constitutional convention of a popular assembly to draw up a constitutional government and before anything else attempted to be made by the workingmen's deputies in the name of their constituents, incidentally these delegates expressed their entire satisfaction with conservatism of the czar's address as formulated by the constitutional demand in the duma.

A reply will be sent to the czar, protesting against the whole tenor of the throne's address. The czar's address as formulated by the workingmen's deputies creates a sensation which surpasses anything that has yet startled the duma members.

MONEY AND STAMPS

STOLEN FROM POSTOFFICE AT OGDEN BY BURGLARS.

Residents Believe They Know Guilty Parties and Have Put Bloodhounds on Trial.

The postoffice at Odgen, a few miles below Bandana, Ky., was burglarized last night and a great quantity of goods taken with the stamp supply with all money from the postoffice, and bloodhounds are being used today in tracking down the burglars.

The postoffice is located in the Sam McGee store, general merchandise, and last night was locked early, the postmaster retiring early. This morning he found his store had been entered by a side window and all the money in the postoffice, amounting to a little less than $100, stamps and other minor articles taken from the government and a quantity of merchandise stolen.

Shoes dry goods and notions were missed, and it is impossible to ascertain how extensive the robbery was.

Bloodhounds were sent for and arrived this morning from Eddyville. They will be used today in tracking down the burglars. It is stated that the residents suspect some one and if the hounds are unsuccessful will prefer charges at once and cause the arrest of those suspected.

Former Attorney General of Ohio, is Under Fire.

Bucyrus, O., May 17.—Judge Tolles today in charging the grand jury asked for an investigation of the record of Frank S. Monnett, and former Prosecutor Charles Gallinger, of this county, on the rumor that in a case against several railroads several years ago, they received $5,000 more than was authorized by the court, which extra amount it is alleged has never been accounted for. Monnett is at present engaged as a special counsel for the government in the investigation of the relations of the railroads with the iron and coal industries.

MUNICIPAL

OWNERSHIP DEFEATED TWO TO ONE IN DENVER ELECTION.

Republicans Win, With Democrats Second in Three-Cornered Aldermanic Contest.

Denver, May 17.—The first election in which Denver voters had a chance to vote on the question of municipal ownership resulted today in the defeat of the proposition by a 2 to 1 vote.

The question was whether the Denver trainway should be given a 20-year franchise for 70 miles of new streets. It carried by a large majority. The vote was tight.

As near as can be judged at midnight the Republicans have elected nine aldermen, the Democrats four, and the municipal ownership party two. The Republicans probably have elected two election commissioners and all three supervisors.

The Paducah newspapers have been requested by the Cairo baseball management to pay no attention to "dope" in a certain Cairo newspaper because of the unreliability of the baseball writings.

The paper came out the day after the initial game of the Cairo-Paducah series, claiming that fans in Paducah threw cushions and other things not tied down at Cairo players. This is false, and the writer must have known it, being acquainted with the fact that the entire Paducah grand stand is screened.

"There is such a thing as killing popularity of baseball in a town through unreliable writing," Mr. Ed Eichenberger, of the Cairo team stated, "and we are averse to many things printed in this particular paper. We would request that your Paducah papers and other papers in the league discontinue copying the 'dope' and this will help a great deal."

BARNARD COLLEGE GIRLS MEET GORKY'S COMPANION

Prof. John Dewey of Columbia University invited a number of Barnard College girls to his house to meet Miss Andrieva, the actress whom Maxim Gorky brought over from Russia and introduced as his wife.

Every girl but one who was invited came to the reception. The one who did not come had a sprained ankle.

The college girls fell dead in love with the lady with the advanced ideas on the subject of marriage.

Mrs. John Martin, of Tompkinsville, Staten Island, at whose house the actress has been staying, brought her to the reception.

She wore a striking costume in the black and white effect. Her hair was powdered after the most approved Bohemian fashion, and a single ruby flamed on the thumb of her little white left hand.

She gave a talk on Russian independence and Russian women, much to the disappointment of the women who came to meet her.

She said nothing about Russian ideas as to free love.

She didn't even mention among the Russian women of whom she spoke, the little neglected wife and mother whom Maxim Gorky left alone for her.

The Barnard girls were tremendously impressed and there is a run on black dresses and powdered hair and flaming red stones at Barnard this morning.

Daily Thought.

"Talk without action saps the very will."

The Board of Public Works is displaying commendable enterprise in urging the completion of the concrete sidewalks on Jefferson street and Kentucky avenue. Paducah's streets are the despair of pedestrians. The campaign for sidewalk improvement comes at a time when it will subserve a two-fold public service. The walks are needed, because the city has grown so fast in all directions that the municipal boards have failed to keep up with her. Then again, since the enforcement of the stock ordinance residents have an opportunity to tear down their front fences and beautify their premises. The adornment of the property line with clean, even white walks against the dark green of the lawns will be a revelation to those who pass and an incentive to other residents to seek sidewalk improvements and to beautify their premises. A movement of this kind among the citizens fostered and encouraged by the example of the municipality will have no limitations. Prompt action by the city in pushing all public works will soon meet with the co-operation of citizens. Dilatory tactics of officials will dishearten the people and retard public improvement.

The vote of the Southern Methodist General Conference on the revision of the creed of faith, showed the laity more opposed to the change than the clergy; in fact, the lay vote was very close. Apparently the people are satisfied. If so, the ministers had best leave them alone, or they may be "hoist by their own petard." One of the coolest and soundest of the college of bishops, the eminent Bishop Hoss, has seen the danger signal and warned them of it.

If all these seismic disturbances predicted for the northern states come off as scheduled, they will turn the thoughts of wanderers to Kentucky's Home Coming Week. By the way, have you sent those names to the secretary of the Commercial club?

The restoration of the depot building and the extension of police protection to the traveling public shows how good judgment follows consideration. First impressions count. Paducah should see to it that the visitor gets a good one at the galo of the city.

Feldt has confessed to the expenditure of the alleged $1,000,000 corruption fund of the Mutual Life, but it is probable he has confessed to the actions of some other fellow.

Gasoline has gone up again. But this time it was the Standard Oil and not the cook that precipitated the phenomenon.

Senator Bailey has now got into a fight with newspapers. He will find them long trammeled in their replies by official etiquette.

MORE SENSATIONAL EPISODES

Washington, D. C., May 17.—The recent efforts of the president and Democratic senatorial leaders to reach an agreement on the rate bill received further notice in the senate from Bailey and Tillman. The matter was referred to by the Texas senator in the course of a personal explanation called out by an article in the Chicago Tribune, charging Bailey with failure to find common ground in his address. Bailey denounced the article in question as a "lie" and the authors and inspirers of it as "hars."

He said:

"I intend to put in the record upon the statement of more than one reputable newspaper correspondent in that gallery, and as a rule they are as honorable as the senators on this floor, on their authority, I state that the two chief envoys of this administration are correspondents of the New York Tribune and the Chicago Tribune."

Documentary Evidence.

Chicago, Ill., May 17.—The Tribune today will publish the following from "Raymond," its Washington correspondent in answer to the attack upon his veracity by Senator Bailey:

"When Hon. Joseph W. Bailey, senator from Texas, struck at the president of the United States over my humble shoulders, for that is all he did on the floor of the senate today, he apparently was unaware there was documentary evidence in existence both in the official congressional record and in the form of a written memorandum by former Wm. E. Chandler, absolutely proving he was an object of suspicion to the real friends of the president's railroad policy."

Washington, May 17.—Senator Bailey presented in the senate today documentary evidence in his possession tending to discredit the published statements that he acted treacherously to the party and attempted to prevent effective railroad rate legislation. The documents are in the nature of letters from ex-Senator Chandler.

While Americans take great pride and pleasure in being called "a strenuous people," it is perhaps not generally appreciated that a great many injure themselves physically—wreak nervous systems, invite premature wrinkles, gray hairs and infirmities by the hurry, worry way in which they live, neglecting in many instances proper care of the body and letting the real pleasures of life escape as a forfeit. Unrestrained strenuousness means neurasthenia ultimately.

Neurasthenia is nerve-exhaustion and that means inefficiency of the body to carry on vital functioning. Nervous centrum lag; debility ensues; listlessness and fatigue reign. Pain may be felt in the back; fullness or pressure at the top of the head; sleep is broken and without refreshment; digestion notably is weak and loss of appetite, constipation and distress after eating are the rule. The headache of neurasthenia is like a band around the head; ordinarily is worse in the morning and better towards the end of day, and is probably the most common of all headaches which come for treatment.

Now, drugs do not help neurasthenia; that is admitted; and physicians have long been accustomed to send their neurasthenics away from the cities to the mountains, seashore, abroad or anywhere to find new scenes and enjoy tranquil restoration. But that is expensive and there is a surer, quicker and better as well as less costly way—Osteopathy.

Osteopathy cures neurasthenia—which is but another name for nervousness, by stimulation to the nerves and the circulation. I can show you to your satisfaction in a very few minutes why osteopathy is the same rational cure for all diseases of the nerves.

Come to see me at any time between the hours of 9 and 12 in the forenoon and 2 and 5 in the afternoon. Dr. G. B. Frogs, 516 Broadway. Phone 1407.

COD LIVER OIL.

It almost makes you sick to think of it, but it isn't nearly as bad as it used to be. The improved method of refining it makes it much easier to take, and when made into Scott's Emulsion almost every one can take it. Most children like it and all children that are not robust are benefited by it. When the doctor says "Take cod liver oil," he generally means Scott's Emulsion; ask him if he doesn't. They know it is more easily digested and better than the plain oil.

NO DAMAGES

RECOVERED BY MRS. FANNIE PRINCE FOR LOSS OF FOOT.

Surviving Victim of Accident in the Illinois Central Yards Beaten In Court.

The case of Mrs. Fannie Prince against the Illinois Central road was tried today and the case was decided for the defendant this afternoon at 2 o'clock. She was knocked off a trestle by an Illinois Central freight train last winter and lost a foot. She sued for $2,000 damages.

This afternoon the case of Effie Leigh against the Citizens' Savings' bank is on trial.

The case of Mrs. M. E. Head against Cheatham Hodge for $25,000 damages for the loss of her husband, alleging that the defendant either killed him or was instrumental in effecting his death, was this morning continued at the request of the defendant.

Mrs. Head secured a verdict for $15,000 damages a few months ago, but a new trial was granted. There are over 100 witnesses to be heard in the case and most of them were on hand today. Hodge claimed that he was not prepared for trial and his motion to continue at his cost was sustained.

In the case of the Mechanics and Farmers' bank against J. L. Friedman and others, the plaintiff filed motion with reasons for a new trial. The motion was overruled and an appeal taken.

The case of Theodore Stone, receiver, against the Paducah City Railway was referred to John K. Hendricks for trial during vacation.

In the case of Rudolph Streit against the city of Paducah the plaintiff's motion for a new trial was withdrawn. Streit got $50 damages for defective drainage.

John Cashon filed suit for divorce against Rebecca Cashon, alleging abandonment. They married in September, 1892, and separated in July 1900.

Marriages Licenses.

A marriage license was issued to James McDowell, aged 32, and Lillie B. Harris, aged 22, colored, of the city.

Police Court.

Ed Holland and Bob Diggs, colored, were granted a continuance on a charge of gaming, and a witness was ordered attached. J. W. Newton, white, charged with contracting without a license, was dismissed.

Bankruptcy Court.

John G. Calvert, an engineer employed by the Illinois Central, this morning filed a petition in bankruptcy. His debts are small and few, totalling only $113.45. He lists no assets.

The specifications of objections to the discharge in the bankrupt matter of Thomas Reeves of Ballard county, were examined this morning by Referee E. W. Bagby, and found not substantiated by the evidence in the case. The creditors alleged that Reeves failed to list in his assets $900 cash and a tract of land, but there was no evidence positively to support it. Referee Bagby overruled the objections and recommended a discharge. He left the case open fifteen days for a revision of his action.

MAMMON WINS OVER PASTORS.

Bankers Beat Preachers, Aligned by Two Brethren Men, at Haskell.

La Crosse, Wis., May 17.—Mammon triumphed over religion in La Crosse today when the bankers of the city defeated the ministers in a game of baseball by a score of 16 to 2 and left two of the reverend players so badly hurt that it will be several days before they will be able to attend to their usual duties again. Before the game the bankers gave the preachers a handicap by allowing them to hire a semi-professional battery, and the ministers, without knowing it, procured the services of two members of a brewery team.

STARTS FOR BANK
AND DISAPPEARSFamily of Terry Malone Fear
Foul Play.

Young Man Was Paid Off Wednesday and Intended to Cash His Check for Month.

THE POLICE ARE SEARCHING

Terry Malone, an employee of the Illinois Central blacksmith shop, is missing from home and his parents are experiencing a great deal of anxiety over his safety.

The young man is 23 years old and has steady habits. Last night when he left home he stated he was going to city to get his check cashed. He lives near Ninth and Jones streets and at 11 o'clock had not returned home. This morning at 7 o'clock he failed to appear and his parents are very uneasy.

It is said that this is the first time he has ever failed to return home at an early hour of the night, and it is feared he met with foul play.

The young man's father is Carroll Malone, night watchman at the Dixie Mills, Eighth and Jones street, and is today instituting a search for the boy.

This is the second Paducah man to disappear in two days. William Mansfield, an employee of the Paducah Box and Basket factory, being the first to "turn up missing." Mansfield left home for medicine and has not come home yet. His family is anxious over his absence and suspect foul play. Policemen are making an investigation. Both men had money and valuables on their persons when they left home.

WITH IRON BAR.

It Is Charged Lee Williams Struck Will Holden.

The latter was rendered unconscious and has remained partly so since the assault. Williams is now in jail waiting for trial. His case is set for tomorrow morning but it is thought that Holden will be unable to attend, judging from the reports of his wounds.

WHOSE SAY-SO IS BEST?

With nearly all medicines put up for sale through drugstores, it is hard to say whose say-so alone and exclusively, as to their curative value. Of course, such testimony is not that of a disinterested party and accordingly is not to be given the same credit as if written from disinterested motives. Dr. Pierce's medicines, however, form a single and therefore striking exception to this rule. Their claims to the confidence of invalids do not rest solely upon their owners' and makers' say-so or praise. The ingredients are matters of public knowledge, being printed on each separate bottle wrapper. Thus invalid sufferers are taken into Dr. Pierce's full confidence. Scores of leading medical men have written enough to fill volumes in praise of the curative value of the several ingredients entering into these well-known medicines. Amongst these we find such medical lights as Prof. Finley Ellington, M. D., of Bennett Medical College, Chicago; Prof. Hale, of the same city; Prof. Jno. M. Skinner, M. D., late of Cincinnati, Ohio; Prof. Jno. Kling, M. D., late of Cincinnati, Ohio; Dr. Grover Cox, of New York; Dr. Bartholow and scores of others equally eminent.

The writings of these have been for the various medical journals and for general standard medical books for professional reading and instruction, and hence are the more valuable as they relate to Dr. Pierce's medicines, since the writers did not know that they were endorsing and recommending articles that enter into the composition of these medicines and had no personal interest whatever therein. Hence, their great value endorsements.

A brief synopsis, of a small part only of the ingredients, will suffice to give an idea of the several ingredients entering into Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery—the world-famed remedy for weak stomach, or dyspepsia, torpid or congested liver, biliousness, ulceration of stomach and bowels and kindred ailments—has been compiled for publication in book form. These extracts also treat of the several ingredients entering into the composition of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription for weak over-worked, "run-down," debilitated, nervous woman, who finds in it a priceless boon.

Send your name and address by postal card or letter, with request for this little book, to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., and it will be mailed free to you. Address: From it you will learn why "Golden Medical Discovery" cures catarrh of the nasal passages, even though they have been long in action by reason of cold, damp weather. It is the most potent constitutional remedy for this terribly common and generally unsuccessfully treated malady. The cure will be facilitated if Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy be employed to cleanse out the nasal passages at the same time that the "Discovery" is employed for the constitutional treatment.

The "Discovery" is equally efficient in the cure of catarrh of the stomach and bowels, and in cases of ulceration of those organs. Read what Doctors Kling, Seidler, Grover Cox, and others say of the curative properties of Golden Seal, root and of Stone root in cases of the above diseases. Both these roots are important ingredients of "Golden Medical Discovery." From the writings of these same authors you will learn why "Golden Medical Discovery" cures catarrh of the throat and bronchial tubes, even though they have been attended with hoarseness, cough, soreness and kindred symptoms. Several of the ingredients in the "Golden Medical Discovery" are highly recommended for their specific, curative effects in laryngitis, or "Speakers" sore throat, as well as in incipient consumption and obstinate, lingering coughs which, if neglected or badly treated, are apt to end in consumption.

From the same little book you may learn why Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription cures the worst cases of female debility, prostrations, until version and retroversion, and cure of uterine catarrh, cures painful periods, drives up disagreeable and weakening drains, sometimes known as pelvic catarrh, and why inflammation of the ovaries and a multitude of other diseases peculiar to women, readily yield to its marvelous curative potency. Bear in mind, it is not a patent nor even a secret medicine, but the "Favorita Prescription" of a regularly educated physician of large experience in the cure of women's special ailments, no frankly and cheerfully takes his patients into his full confidence by telling them just what his "Prescription" is composed of. Of no other medicine put up for woman's special maladies and sold through drugstores, can it be said that the maker is not afraid to deal thus frankly, openly and honorably, by letting every patient using the same know exactly what she is taking.

That every ingredient entering into Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has the endorsement of the leading medical writers of the age amply attests its harmless character as well as its sterling curative value. Send your address for the little book and read what some of the most eminent medical men of this century say of the curative properties contained in the several ingredients which go to make up Dr. Pierce's leading medicine. No other medicines are backed up by such marvelous, disinterested, professional endorsements. This one fact is worth more and should have more weight in determining whether these non-secret medicines, or some secret compounds without professional endorsement and with only the makers' praise to recommend them, are best and most likely to effect im-

In favor of Dr. Pierce's medicines is the frank, confiding, open statement of their full composition, giving every ingredient in plain English, without fear of successful criticism and with confidence that the good sense of the afflicted will lead them to appreciate this honorable manner of confiding to them what they are taking into their stomachs when making use of these medicines.

Dr. Pierce's medicines are made from harmless, but efficient medicinal roots found growing in our American forests. The Indians knew of the marvelous curative value of some of these roots and imparted that knowledge to some of the friendlier whites, and gradually some of the more progressive physicians came to test and use them, and ever since then have they been used by reason of their superior curative virtues and their safe and harmless qualities. The little free book mentioned in the preceding column will tell you all about the properties and uses of these most valuable medicinal roots. Send for it now.

SUCCUMBS AT LAST TO COMPLICATIONS

Mendall W. Johnson, the City Weigher, Dies at Home.

Prominent Politician and Lodge Man and Highly Respected Citizen Is Mourned.

FUNERAL IS THIS AFTERNOON

Mr. Mendall W. Johnson, politician and prominent lodgemem, and one of the most highly respected citizens of Paducah, died last evening between 6 and 7 o'clock. He had been in failing health more than a year, and had just returned from Dawson Springs, where he had gone to better his health. Although he had been bed-ridden a comparatively short time, his condition was considered hopeless from his return from Dawson. Yesterday he suffered a relapse and within a few hours passed away. He died of dropsy and complications.

Captain Mendall Johnson was 50 years old and born in St. Louis. He was brought to Paducah when an infant by his parents, and received his education in the Paducah schools. He engaged in the steamboat business in his early manhood and later went into the foundry business with his father, the late Capt. Joe Johnson, at one time mayor of the city.

The deceased suffered reverses after the burning of the foundry several years ago, and while he had taken a lively interest in politics, had never run for office save for places on municipal boards. He served as a councilman several times and after the fire ran for the office of city weigher. He won and held that position at the time of death.

The deceased also ran for city treasurer against Col. John J. Doan at the last election when a municipal ticket was elected and was defeated by less than one hundred votes. He refused to contest.

He was trustee of the jury fund, McCracken circuit court, at time of death.

The deceased was a member of the Elks lodge and stood prominent in the order for several years, at one time serving as exalted ruler. As a man, he was generally liked, making friends of all his acquaintances, and his death will be received with much regret and sorrow.

Mr. Johnson married Miss Leah White of Paducah, and is survived by his wife and five children, Misses Virginia, Leah, Fannie and Ruth, and Master Mendall Johnson, Jr.

He leaves two brothers and one sister. They are Messrs. Charles Johnson, city; J. Y. Johnson, St. Louis; Mrs. Chloe Wilson, St. Louis. Several nieces and nephews survive him.

The funeral services will be conducted this afternoon at 4 o'clock under the auspices of the Elks lodge from the residence, interment at Oak Grove.

This is the second death to occur in the family within two weeks.

RAD FAITH.

Charges Senator Tillman Against the President.

Senator Tillman yesterday made in the senate another statement in regard to President Roosevelt's change of attitude on the railroad rate bill. In closing his statement Senator Tillman said: "The change I made and still make, is that the president is guilty of bad faith, and that the rate bill, which will be, when enacted into a law, a much better and stronger measure than we had hoped to get, has been emasculated of one of its most valuable and essential features by the president's action. I am ready to leave the whole question to the thoughtful and honorable men of the country."

CORPS OF CLERKS IS COMING

Mr. Arthur C. Patterson, a Paducah boy, has been selected to take charge of the office as assistant or down town agent. He formerly was with the Illinois Central, but later went to work for the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis, and is now in Atlanta, Ga., working for the latter road.

The office is to be located in the Campbell building on Broadway near Fifth street.

IMPROVEMENTS

Will Be Made in L. C. Hospital Early This Summer.

The committee appointed by the hospital association of the Illinois Central road, has decided to make improvements which have been under consideration for several seasons. The contagious ward will be located under the hospital in the basement and the kitchen department will be enlarged and other improvements made to facilitate work in this department. The heating furnace will be rearranged and other minor improvements made, entailing an expense of about $4,000.

The deceased also ran for city treasurer against Col. John J. Doan at the last election when a municipal ticket was elected and was defeated by less than one hundred votes. He refused to contest. He was trustee of the jury fund, McCracken circuit court, at time of death.

Dayton opened his mouth several times before he could articulate, "I did not—think it!"

"Then who was it? Where is he?" Lord Frampton looked angrily around.

"Excuse me just a few minutes. I must finish dressing. I was not, and I wasn't there. I'll explain." Dayton withdrew into the bedroom, pulling the portiere over the doorway.

He hurried into his clothes and returned to the sitting room. He stood before Lord Frampton, looking ashamed, repentant, honest. "I am going to make a clean breast of it, sir," he said. "I could not keep my engagement with you yesterday. I did not wish to lose the interview. I sent a perfectly competent man, thinking it made no difference to you, as you did not know me or care especially who did the interview, so long as it was done properly."

"But where is he? Where is he?" Lord Frampton tapped his cane angrily on the floor.

"I don't know, sir. I—"

"This is outrageous. A person respecting himself to be a Fenimore Dayton, an American journalist, wrote me a note. I don't know what demon of ill luck possessed me. I had never submitted to an interview. I am a very old man and in poor health. I permit no strangers to come near me. But something—perhaps in the note—I don't know—at my rate, I consented to receive this person at my club. He, or some one representing himself to be him, came, and we talked for about two hours. He was most agreeable, most intelligent, but he had been drinking—at least I feared so—I became nervous about the interview. He promised to bring me what he had written last night. As he did not, I came here this morning. I wish to recall the interview. I forbid the publication of a word from me. I shall hold you responsible, sir. It is an outrage! It is scandalous! I shall protest publicly, sir!"

"I have no excuse to offer, sir?" said Dayton humbly. "I can only throw myself on your mercy. But first let me say that your interview is safe—at least it has not been published and will not be." Then he went on to confess the whole truth, holding back nothing—his love for a young American, the impossibility of keeping both engagements and the impossibility of breaking either. "And I suppose, sir?" he said in conclusion, "that Carpenter slipped away and took several drinks before seeing you and then kept on drinking afterward. In spite of his habits, sir, there isn't a man in the world more competent to get such an interview than Henry Carpenter."

"Hasn't he written on sociology?" inquired Lord Frampton. He had been interrupting Dayton's narrative with descending series of examinations, beginning with "Shocking?" and "Depraved?" and "Insolent?" and ending with such milder ejaculations as "Most astonishing?" "Extraordinary?" "Surprising?"

"Yes," replied Dayton eagerly, entering the opening and hurrying on to remind Lord Frampton of the titles and subjects of Carpenter's best known essays.

Lord Frampton was somewhat mollified. He said: "It was a disgraceful trick to play upon an old man, sir, but I've been young myself. You Americans—a wonderful people, sir, but—with a sudden twinkling in his old eyes—"will you get the young lady?"

"I think so," said Dayton.

"I don't doubt it. If impudence is as effective with the ladies as it was when I was a young fellow," Lord Frampton chuckled.

"Would you mind if I showed you a photograph of her, sir?" asked Dayton, shamelessly using his bribe to be us the pacifier of the old man's wrath. He brought the photograph, a fair-haired, clear-eyed girl with a resolute face looking straight out of the picture at you—"will you get the young lady?"

"A fine American type," said Lord Frampton.

They talked for a few minutes of America, then Lord Frampton suddenly remembered his wrongs and was angry all over again. "I am very old," he said pensively. "This will shorten my life. And where, sir, in that association of yours, this Carpenter?"

"We'll find him," said Dayton, and after he had hastily taken coffee and a roll they set out for the far end of Main Street. They found Carpenter's lodgings down a dismal alley in a house which had been built of wood instead of stone, would have been obliterated decades before. A pinched New England female face answered the knock at the door to which the slattern in cludge had directed them.

"What do you want?" said she, in what is sometimes called the "pale and pickled" voice.

"Where is Mr. Carpenter?"

"That's what I'd like to know," Mrs. Carpenter answered.

A few minutes' talk made it clear that no news was to be got there. "We'll have to look for him," said Dayton, as if they were sure to find him. And on the way back to the Pleasants-Strand district he tried to persuade Lord Frampton to go quietly to his club and wait.

"No," said Lord Frampton crossly; "I go with you. Honily, Mr. Dayton, this is a most extraordinary proceeding. When peace and quiet are absolutely necessary to me, I find myself rushing about London in search of a wild drunken creature. My whole life has been spent in quiet, and now, at ninety, thanks to my accursed folly in answering a note from a wandering American journalist—I must have been out of my mind! I feel like pinching myself to see whether I am awake. I shall not leave you until we find him. I must look to my reputation. Why did I—why did I answer that devilish note?"

Toward 9 at night Dayton, in the effort to gain one of the old man's raves—he was very tired and sleepy—told him that Elsie and he were to be married on Monday. "As her mother won't consent, we shall go quietly to the American consulate. I've arranged it all with a friend of mine."

"Most extraordinary," muttered Lord Frampton. "More impudence! And what am I doing here—not my health?"

"Will you come?" interrupted Dayton.

"Come! Come where?"

"To the wedding. We'll be delighted."

Lord Frampton stared. "God bless my soul!" he ejaculated. "Am I dreaming? I invited to take part in a runaway marriage!"

"I suppose you're afraid there might be a mistake and you'd be the bridegroom."

Lord Frampton smiled, then clenched, then unclenched. But they were just in Carpenter's lodgings—their fourth visit. Yes, Carpenter had returned, had staggered in about an hour before, and was now upstairs. His wife opened the door. There he lay upon the bed, his clothes torn and mud be dangled.

"Roll him on the floor," suggested the eldest boy. "Let me throw water on him. Marlin always does, don't you, Marlin?"

All, including the renowned philosopher, who used his cane vigorously as a prod, joined in the effort to revive the drunken man. When he at last opened his eyes Dayton said, "Here, here, Carpenter, where's that interview?" and kept on shaking him to prevent his lapsing into the stupor.

"Pocket," commanded Carpenter. "Is a gran' ol' man. Of Frampy pressed 't out hot. Gran' ol' man, Frampy."

Dayton reached into the inside pocket of the coat and drew out a notebook.

"Huh?" Of Frampy clutchet it, put on his eyeglasses and glanced over the pages. "Yes, this is it. I never expected to see it. Bless me, what a relief!"

Dayton gave Mrs. Carpenter a sovereign, "on account," he said, for lack of any other disguise of the charity, "and when he comes around tell him I want to see him."

Dayton and Lord Frampton hurried away.

"Where shall I set you down, sir?" said Dayton.

Lord Frampton gave the name of a private hotel in Dover street. They drove in silence for ten minutes, then the philosopher clenched. Dayton glanced at him furtively. He had been devising a plan for approaching the subject of the interview. Perhaps he could induce Lord Frampton to give up the notebook. When the old man clenched again he ventured to speak.

"Will you forgive me, sir?"

"Forgive you, you young rascal? I thought, but—it is certainly very ridiculous—how my friends, my readers all over the world, would laugh if they could know what I've been doing." He clenched again.

"When you'll come to the American consulate on Monday at 10—to the wedding?"

The spirit of adventure has got into my blood. Yes, I'll be there—if I don't die of the reaction."

"And that interview?"

"There, there! Not a word about that. I'll overlook it!"

"But I mean—it's a great impertinence to ask it—only!"

Lord Frampton turned in the cab and looked at Dayton's calm, earnest face in amazement. "You don't mean, my dear sir, that you are daring to ask me to do it? It's impossible. Even you wouldn't dare!"

"But, sir, it seems a shame for you to have all this annoyance for nothing. I can transcribe the notes and have them typewritten and bring them to you. And if you are not satisfied you can tear them up or use them for some other purpose."

Lord Frampton was laughing. "I have always held," said he, "that surprising results were to come from your house under the political, social and geographic conditions of the new world. But I must say—"

"And," pursued Dayton, "I could call it over tomorrow for Sunday's paper, and I'm sure it would be a great hit. The Americans are tremendous admirers and readers of your work."

COMMERCE COMMISSION BUSY,

Philadelphia, May 17.—When the Interstate commerce commission resumed its hearings today into investigation of the charges of discrimination by certain railroad companies in the distribution of coal cars, George W. Clark, of Altoona, car distributor, employed by the Pennsylvania Railroad company, was called to the stand.

Questioned by counsel for the commission, Mr. Clark said he owned ten shares of stock in the Preston Coal company and fifty shares in the Jamison Coal company.

"Did you ever receive any dividends from Capt. Alfred Hicks, a mine owner on the West Pennsylvania division?" queried Attorney Glassow.

"I never received any dividends." "Did you ever get any money from Capt. Hicks?"

"I received checks from Capt. Hicks."

"To what amount?"

"Fifty dollars each."

"How often did you get these checks?"

"About once a month for three or four months."

The witness was asked why the money was sent to him and he replied that he did not know. He had never asked Capt. Hicks why he sent the checks, and when they ceased coming he did not ask Capt. Hicks why he had stopped sending them.

The highest of the season came several weeks ago when the mercury crept to 94, and yesterday came near reaching the limit. Today the weather will be hotter than yesterday, from indications. Mr. Stonebreaker Receives Recognition of Services.

Chief Engineer Baldwin Returns From Inspection Trip Over Nashville Division.

GOSSIP FROM LOCAL SHOPS

Mr. G. M. Stonebreaker, general yardmaster of the local Illinois Central, has been given an increase in salary in recognition of the excellent work he has done. The raise was granted yesterday when the pay car arrived, and Mr. Stonebreaker received the first raise yesterday, his check calling for $15 more on the month.

Mr. Stonebreaker came here over a year ago from Illinois and took charge of the local L. C. yards. He inaugurated a system peculiarly his own, watched the business of his department constantly and recommended improvements where necessary. He has succeeded in placing the yards second to none in dispatch of business, a fact that is gratifying to his superior, Mr. L. E. McCabe, yardmaster of the Paducah district, and others connected with the division.

Mr. Stonebreaker, it is stated, talked of resigning last week, and at one time was ready to hand in his resignation. The increase of salary coming as it did showed the appreciation was not lacking, and Mr. Stonebreaker will remain in charge of the yards here.

The L. C. pay car finished work here yesterday afternoon late and this morning left for the South. Chief Engineer here.

Sanitation Hint.

Good sanitation for 1906 should be your motto.

Clean your premises, keep them clean and sprinkle with lime.

Screen your doors and windows and keep out the housefly, the most dangerous of pests. It carries disease and infection.

The most effective money spent in advertising Paducah will be that spent in cleaning and draining it. Every citizen can help to do this, in their own way.

No mosquitoes, no malaria.

A clean city is one danger of yellow fever and typhoid.

NOT SURPRISED.

Was City Solicitor Campbell At Deck-stop of Judge Evans.

"I was rather more disappointed than surprised at the ruling of Judge Evans on our motion," said James Campbell, city solicitor, on his return from Louisville, where he and Attorney Hal Corbett argued a motion to dissolve the temporary injunction secured by the Cumberland Telephone company against the city. "I rather expected such an outcome, although I hoped to get this federal court matter out of the way before the telephone case got to the court of appeals. The injunction case comes up for final disposition next fall. Of course, it complicates matters to have such a controversy hanging in both the state and federal courts at the same time."

STANDARD DENIES.

Issues Statement in Reply to Accusations of Starfield.

New York, May 17.—The Standard Oil company issued to its shareholders a statement in reply to the special message recently sent to Congress by President Roosevelt, and the report on the country's oil industry by Commissioner Garfield, of the Bureau of Corporations, which accompanied it. The statement is signed by C. M. Pratt, secretary, and was issued by order of the board of directors. It denies positively the charge that the Standard Oil company benefited by secret rates for the transportation of its products.
